

ABSTRACT

A removable nut assembly for stringed musical instruments is disclosed for facilitating release of the tension on the strings to enable disassembly and removal of the strings from the instrument. In certain embodiments, the bridge assembly and the nut assembly of the stringed instrument are readily removable so that an entire set of strings can be quickly removed and replaced. Kits and methods of replacing the strings of a stringed musical instrument are also disclosed.